Asserts Plebiscite Would Show 4 to 1 Majority in Favor of Republic.

Legislature After Viewing Monuments of Revolution.

Legislature heard to-day from Earnon de Valera, president of the "Irish Republic," a statement of political conditions in the Emerat Isle. He asserted that "If we could get a plebiscite we would carry it 4 to 1" for the Republic."

As the guest of the city of Cambridge. and made a pilgrimage to points in and about Boston identified with events in the American Revolution. Then came his address to the Legislature and a reception in the Hall of Flags at the Late to-day en route to Manchester, N. H., as the guest of Gov. Bartlett, who came here to accompany him, Mr. de Valera continued his pilgrimage to revolutionary scenes, passing through revolutionary scenes, passing through Concord and Lexington.

The House of Representatives had invited Mr. de Valera as "President of Ireland" to address the body. The Benate, because of the insistence of President McKnight on parliamentary procedure, took no action on a motion to invite him before the upper branch. The House, however, extended to the Senate an invitation to be present in the House chamber during the Irish leader's visit, and at President McKnight's suggestion the Senators accepted unanimously.

Mr. de Valera placed a wreath beneath the historic elm in Cambridge under which Gen. Washington took command of the American Revolutionary army, and another on the "Minute Man" monu base of Bunker Hill monument he placed wreath in tribute to the men of Irish blood who fought there. Mr. de Valera took from his pocket a card on which he wrote the date and the words of Washington when he learned that the hattle of Bunker Hill had been fought. "the liberties of my country are safe," signed it and fastened it to the wreath.

ark, committed suicide by drowning in the Passaic River. His body was found at Nutley yesterday morning and later in the day was identified by his brother. Receive had been missing since Friday.

According to his wife he had been worrying for several weeks and a week ago he told her of being short in his accounts. Mrs. Reeber notified the company and an investigation showed that he was short $1,800. When he disappeared negotiations were under way to and a letter addressed to Mrs. Reeber were found in Delawanna last Saturday and that was the first intimation that he might have committed suicide. The letter read in part:

"Dearest: I should not call you this because you have been a true wife and I have only tried to be a good husband. Forgive me for this rash act, but it is the only thing left for me to avoid going to prison. Don't blame me for taking this step, for I could not face the world any longer, for I have disgraced you, and am ashamed of myself. "I have sworn to a fake statement on the income tax return too, and Uncle Sam will sooner or later find it out. That's why I am taking this measure to get rid of myself." What mention of the income tax re-ferred to Mrs. Reeber said she could not say. She said her husband's income was hardly large enough to require a return.

E. L. C. Robbins Causes Surprise by Purchase.

After emerging from the throes of receivership Delmonico's last night went into the hands of a new owner. He is E. L. C. Robbins, proprietor of a chain of downtown resaurants. Mr. Robbins made his appearance at the famous hostelry at Fifth avenue and Forty-fourth street last evening, just as the last of the wine and liquor stock was being sold, many cases going at private sale.

His appearance was a surprise, as his purchase of the controlling interest had been kept strictly secret. It was learned that the Delmonico estate still retains large holdings in the place, but Mr. Robins will direct its affairs henceforth.

Despite the drought, he said to a representative of THE SUN, he is planning a revival of gayety and is confident of his ability to keep the place in favor with its old patrons.
